In the German language alone, more than 100 new translations of Argentine writers are being published in 2010, 220 new titles on Argentina are included in the list of new German-language publications put together by the Frankfurt Book Fair. The appearance of a country as Guest of Honour at the Frankfurt Book Fair is not just a big celebration, but also provides tangible, measurable and lasting impetus to the book market, not just in Germany.

Argentina introduces itself in Frankfurt as a dynamic literary nation, worth discovering and rediscovering again and again, as a culture in motion, but also as a country that faces up to its history, that takes a critical look at its past and future.

The Frankfurt Book Fair invited publishing companies all over the world to present their current titles on Argentina in our international book exhibition »Books on Argentina«. More than 300 publishing companies from 18 countries have taken advantage of this invitation and are showing what is available in their respective country to read about and from Argentina.

Let these books take you on a journey through Argentinian literature, its history and culture, and find out what the world is writing about Argentina.

I wish you exciting discoveries!

Juergen Boos
Director of the Frankfurt Book Fair
