General Information

Mexico's International Book Fair for Children and Young Readers (FILIJ) is first in its class in the Spanish speaking world:

Due to the volume of books and publishers occupying its spaces for exhibition and sale.

Because it was the first children's book fair in Spanish.

It has the largest public response in the Spanish speaking world.

This fair has been dedicated to promoting readership since it was founded three decades ago. It draws an average of 250,000 visitors.

Invitation

The FILIJ caters to the interests of different publics: children, young people, parents, and teachers as well as professionals from the cultural publishing world: writers, illustrators, editors, distributors, booksellers and librarians.
