Making Literature Travel

European platform for literary exchange, translation and policy debate

www.lit-across-frontiers.org

Literature Across Frontiers (LAF) is a European platform for literary exchange, translation and policy debate. We cooperate with a network of partners to advance intercultural dialogue through literature and translation, and connect literary scenes across Europe and beyond.

We act as a catalyst for innovative projects and highlight less translated literatures. We create opportunities for networking, establishing new contacts and professional skills development. We also monitor literary translation activities and stimulate debate on cultural policy and support for our sector.

Literature Across Frontiers was established in 2001 with support from the European Union. LAF is based at the Mercator Institute for Media, Languages and Culture at Aberystwyth University in Wales.
