

HERE
WE ARE

AUTHORS' GUIDE TO THE FRANKFURT BOOK FAIR

By Hannah Johnson, Publishing Perspectives

www.book-fair.com

blog.book-fair.com

#fbm14

The Frankfurt Book Fair wishes to thank Publishing Perspectives for producing this guide.

Publishing Perspectives is the online journal of international publishing news and opinion that's been called "the BBC of the book world." With correspondents and personal stories from those on the cutting edge of digital, global, and self-publishing all around the world, we provide a window into the industry unlike any other.

Publishing Perspectives is the first publication with a central focus on international publishing. From New York to London, Beijing to Buenos Aires, we bring you the world's publishing news from that country's writers and publishing professionals. Our news, features, and analysis offer a unique, one-of-a-kind look at international publishing with a truly global angle.

Subscribe to receive our free email edition each day at: publishingperspectives.com/subscribe.

Connect with Publishing Perspectives online:

- Follow @pubperspectives on Twitter
- Like us on Facebook/pubperspectives
- Join us on LinkedIn/pubperspectives

TABLE OF CONTENTS

What is the Frankfurt Book Fair?	4
Why Should Authors Go to Frankfurt?	5
Why Should Authors NOT Go?	6
How Much Does It Cost?	7
Your First Trip to Frankfurt	8
Plan Ahead for a Successful Trip	9
Events, Conferences & Workshops	12
At Frankfurt: How it Works	14
After Frankfurt	15
Extra Links & Resources	15

8-12 October 2014
FRANKFURTER BUCHMESSE
Guest of Honour Finland

© Frankfurter Buchmesse / Fernando Baptista

Frankfurt Book Fair
Ausstellungs- und Messe GmbH

Braubachstrasse 16 | 60311 Frankfurt am Main | Germany

Phone: +49 (0) 69 2102-0

Fax: +49 (0) 69 2102-227 or -277

E-mail: servicecenter@book-fair.com

www.book-fair.com

This brochure contains information as of February 2014.